From Madison.

DITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL Madison, Jan. 12 1855. The chief item of interest in Senate this mor-

ang was the adoption of a joint resolution to adare on the 12th day of February, a specimen i Bancombo legislation which does not abow well for the spirit with which the democracy in that body enter upon their duties. It was merean attempt to forestall the action of those who obstitute the aggregate majority in the two expect a short session. Nobody will be deceived

Another item deserves notice, although it was ricily mentioned in the abstract of proceedings When the Assembly munt into the Bennie the joint resolution to meet to Convention this moring, the democrats in the Senate were anddenly seized with alarm, lest the wicked wags in the popular hady should have some trick in view by which they (innocent souls,) should be entrapped ato the selction of a U. S. Schutor, and they acords station that the Convention should " meet it to other purpose, and transact no other busieast except to hear the Message. No one in the Assembly was disposed to be captions, and | States, in the case of Randolph vs. Donaldson, the amendment was concarred in, although the 9th Cranch 76. Il was an action of debt against the Convention to Monday morning for the elec-

The Measage, as everybody will say, is a good ne, though some of its suggestions may not b ceef table ; but it is a desperate pity that with uch fair words, the Administration exhibits such poor array of desds. Several features of the perment have stready provoked discussion, paricularly the items concerning the State Prison nd the Laurstic Asylum; in the one case the istonished people finding that there are still large mearages upon the State Prison contracts, and e the other case, that the hunatic Commissioncra-insane in more than name-have let a con-

ract for a building which, with its appurtenances and incidentals, will set the State funds back by one $100,000. Such was the real folly of the semingly innocent law of last winter, which ave the Governor the appointment of these Commissioners, (who were appointed in violation of the Constitution-two of them, being State Senators,) and authorized them although none but those in the secret supposed that they would do o, to contract for the buildings.

There was little besiness of consequence tran acted in the Assembly to-day. Mr Cross gave notice of a bill to cede the jurisdiction of our Cus om House site to the U.S., and Judge Vila also introduced several, of a local character.

The Republican members of both houses mee -night for a conference upon the subject of U Secutor, but not to communate. Just now, darshal M Strong, Charles Durkee, Judge pooner and H. S. Orton, are the preminent can didates. But there are others, on both sides, or all sides, and on no side but their own, and wem bers talk of chartering a Mutual Button Preserv ing Society, to repair the damage to their gar cents by the aspirants.

A STRONG POINT.

Mr. BYRDN PAINE, of counsel for Mr. BOOTH n his admirable speech, Friday, contended the the proof did not sustain the indicment, because it showed that Glover escaped from the custody of the State failor, and not from the custody of Charles Cotton, as alleged. In support of this point he cited the following Sections of the Revised Statutes :

Chap 10, Sec 83. "The Sheriff shall have the charge and custody of the jails of his county, and of the prisoners of the same and shall keep them Houses, and who have long since given reason to himself, or by his deputy or juilor, for whose acts he and his suroties shall be responsible." Glover was committed to the State jail under the following, which is a part of Section 22, Chap 153, Revised Statutes :

"All Sheriff, jaitors, prison keepers and their and each nuclevery of their deputies, within this State, to whom any person or persons shall be sunt or committed, by virtue of legal process isseed by or major the authority of the United States, shall be and they are hereby enjoined and required to receive such persons into custody, and ordingly amended the resolution by adding to keep them safely, until they be discharged by due course of the laws of the United States." In support of this position, he read the following decision of the Supreme Court of the United aggestion was made that a motion to adjourn the Marshall of the United States, for the escape of a prisoner who had been committed to the State tion of U. S. Senator would be only a Raland for jail. The Court gave a decision of which the following is a part :

following is a part:

The not of Congress of 24th September 1789, ch. 20, sect. 27 and 28, authorizes the marshals of the several districts of the United States to appoint deputies, and declares them responsible for the defaults and misfeasances in office of such deputies. But there is no provision in any act of congress declaring the keepers of state jails, quoid prisoners in custody under process of the United States, to be deputies of the marshals, or making the latter liable for escaper committed by the negligence or malicasance of the former. If therefore, the marshals he so liable, it is an inference from the general powers and duties annexed to their office.

It is argued, that the marshals are so liable, because, in intendment of law, prisoners committed to state jails are still deemed to be in their costody; and in support of this argument is cited the prevision in the act of congress, which makes the marshal, on the removal from or the expiration of his office, responsible for the delivery to his successor of all prisoners in his custody until and authorizes him for that purpose, to retain such prisoners in his custody his successor is appointed. And this argument is further supported by its analogy to the case of sheriffs, and by the extreme inconvecience which, it is asserted, would araise from a contrary doctrine.

The argument is not without weight; but The argument is not without weight; but, upon mature consideration, we are of opinion that it cannot prevail. The act of congress has iimited the responsibility of the marshal to his own acts and the acts of his deputies. The keeper of a state jail is neither in fact nor in law the deputy of the marshal. He is not appointed by, nor removable at the will of the marshal. When a prisoner is regularly committed to a state jail by the marshal, he is no longer in the custody of the marshal, not controllable by him. The marshal has no authority to command or direct the keeper in respect to the nature of the increase. The marshal has no authority to command or direct the keeper in respect to the nature of the imprisonment. The keeper becomes reaponsible for his own acts, and may expose himself by misconduct to the "pains and penalties" of the law. For certain purposes, and to certain intents, the state jail lawfully used by the United States may be deemed to be the jail of the United States, and the keeper to be keeper of the United States. But this would no more make the marshal liable for his acts than for the acts of any other officer of the United States, whose appointment is altogether independent.

MESSES. Entrops:-- I notice in your tri-wee y paper of the 5th inst. a few editorial 2:-

> loing I wish to be expressly understood tha I doing I wish to be expressly understood that I have no desire to anticipate or forestall any non-vestigation which may be had of them. Neinger do I seek to enlist the sympathies of the public in my behalf, nor, above all, do I seek to begin the sympathies of the public in my behalf, nor, above all, do I seek to begin the forest of the political fancy, and who for many years must have considered the commissioner's position the grand lie in my behalf, nor, above all, do I seek to begin the forest of the political fancy, and who for many years must have considered the commissioner's position the grand lie in my behalf, nor, above all, do I seek to begin the forest of the publication of the political fancy, and ught their outcomes and ught their outcomes and a second of the publication of the properties of the publication the question at the hands of any tribunal under heaven, but as my accusers are spreading their scandalous reports broad cast, I cannot forb ar esserting a few simple truths before the public in vindication of my official and as intimately connected with that, my private charancter. I have been for many years known, am I trust not unfavorably known to a large port on of the people of Wisconsin, and I cannot but a y, that while their approbation would be my graitest pride, their condemnation would be 1y heaviest sorrow.

In the first place then, I am charged with or tal want of order and system in executing he tal want of order and system in executing discipline of the prison. I found that its discipline was founded upon what is usually termed the "silent system," and following he precedent established in this prison as well as in most of the older prisons of the Union, I considered it my duty to continue it, and resolved to carry it out as shielly as circumstances.

For the first or four months of my official te m, I am inclined to believe, that the most tastici us stickler for the "silent system" would have been most essentially gratified at my success. But he spring came on and with it commenced the but letting of the new prigon. The convicts were mustly all hired out to the contractors engaged in its erection, and scattered as they were, in groun, of ly all hired out to the contractors engaged in its erection, and scattered as they were, in group of two three or four in a place about the prison yerd, under the direction of their employers, intern ingled with similar groups of citizens werking for the contractors with only two keepers (allowed by law) to watch over the whole. I ask my candid man—any man who will allow reason to guide him in forming his opinions, and who vill speak the truth in expressing them, whether the "silent system" must not necessarily suffer as me relexation, in such a situation of affairs.

But under all these discouraging circumst inces, I will be borne out in saying, that but vary little of disorder and no insubordination previil-that the necessity of the case called upon metalinterpose punishment for any violation of the prison discipline. I feel a little pride in saying that during the year 1854, surrounded as well are been by those unavoidable circumstances connected with the fact that ten or a dozen prisoners have been necessitated to sleep on the cell in om corridors, for want of cells in the old prison, we have not lost a single prisoner either the second corridors, for wast of cells in the old prison, we have not lost a single prisoner either by eac ape or death, which argues, I am inclined to belive, some degree of order and watchfulness, and some core and precaution during the past very sickly senson, for the health of the prison catablishment. I will go farther—there has not even beer an attempt made at excape, and I feel certain, in secret plotting for that purpose, which should convince any disinterested person, that we lave kept etnet watch and wand over the set one and conduct of those who are under our care.

In the second place, I am changed with b ing too kind in my treatment of the prisone s—that I give them what they ask to eat and d inkt—allow them tes and collee, tobacco—and o her luxuries too numerous to mention.

luxuries too numerous to mention.

I suppose it is a matter of fact, that there are many different opinions existing at the pre ent day to relation to the treatment of priso era, day in relation to the treatment of prisoners, suffering punishment in our state prisons, for crimes committed against the laws of the country. Among those who have pretended to form an opinion on this question. I have come to the conclusion that the object of punishment is at least four fold: the protection of society from the continued depredations of the criminal—punsubment for the offence committed—deterring from larther crime—and the hope of making a better man of the offence. an of the offender.

The first object is effected by the confinen ent

tions of the prison?

Can it be effected by brutalizing all the better

One it the effected by brutalizing all the briter nature that may yet remain in the breast of the criminal? Can it be effected by laceration and stayation of body and deprovation of mind?

I must say I think not, and I feel conficent that in this enlightened ago of the world, all the are on the side of humanity and moral progression will coincide with need to not mean to say that the prisoner shall have his lown way—have all his wishes and desires gratified and be choses of his own oating and drinking, but so furnar say be consistent with the law organizing the prion, and the local discipline of the same, I feel assured that such laws and such discipline, will enforced with prompt decision, and undeviating certainty, should be tempered with kindness and humanity, rather than with tyranical harshiess and brutality.

In the main, the intent of the second his of and brutanty.

In the main, the intent of the second his of charges is outrageously, barolacedly false, and calculated to infuse a fulso impression. There are some things which I will not dony. I will not dony, that I have insusted that each provisions as we use and as have ever bean used in the join on since its establishment, should be of ag od sound quality, and properly cooked and describly served. those same written orders to present in my-elf vindication at any proper time or place.

In the next place, I am charged with allewing prisoneru and their wives to have private and secret interviews.

Under the sacredness of my official oath, I leclare this charge utterly false, and without he shadow of a shade of foundation in truth. I sk such discharged officers whom I may have heretofore detailed for the duty of witching and guarding such interviews, whether they have connived at this secret impropriety? I will ask such officers as I have retained, and other remains who can testify, under proper circumst ness and in the proper place, whither I have tree connived at such scandalous impredence, and such bare-faced violation of official duty and a lifterspect.

Impure Gas! Messas Epirons :-- In such hard times as these when 'tis with difficulty we can pay our just bills, does it not seem hard to pay for twice us much gas as is consumed. That from one third to one half more of something other than gas passes three our meters, but few consumers have my doubt. Those who have, however, can satisfy their curiosity by trying a simple experiment, for which here is a receipt: Light an ordinary oil lamp, filled with the procest of oil, and at the same time a gas burner. Then take a couple of tin vessels or pieces of tin, and held one in the flame of each ten seconds, and at the end of that time, notice which is most effectually coated with Lamp Black.

All are willing to acknowledge it is a great convenience to have gas, but are of the opinion evertheless, that when obliged to pay for twice as much as is consumed, and get at that price as article so impure that it smokes the walls of dwellings equally as badly as oil lamps, it seems o be paying dearly for the whistle. WESTERN MERCHANTS IN NEW YORK & BOSTON A writer in the Boston Atlas of Monday last combats very successfully the pretence too ofter put forth by venturous houses in New York, Boston &c., that the stringency of the Money Market and the recent failures in the Easters Cities are mainly attributable to the delinquencies of their Western customers. So far from this being true, says this writer, if any Eastern Merchant is crippled by deb's overdus in Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsia Iowa, or Missouri, it is because he has made his credits injudiciously. He adds and truly:

and truly:

The general ability of the merchants of these States to meet their paper, who do their business properly, (no others deserve credit.) was seldon if ever better; and what is more to the point, it may be said with out contradiction, and it will so appear on an investigation, that good men at the West have generally paid up well, as well the past year as at any time the last five years, and when proper discramination and sound judgement have been used in making credits the losses have never been less.

That is so. Wisconsin business was never in better shape than now.

Important to Farmers. Mr. Bowen, of the extensive firm of Bowen d McNamee, who is one of the most sagacious business men in the United States, writes the commercial and money articles for the New Vorb Independent In kielste weekly zerier we find the following interesting information and sensible advice:

"The present stock of flour and grain in this market is very small, hardly two weeks supply, and it is well known that large orders lately rereived from England and France, cannot be executed only at advanced rates. In view of the prospect of permanul high praces, our farmors throughout the country will not fail to prepare for extensive seed sowing the coming spring.—The number of acres cultivated, if possible, shoud be double. It will require one more plentiful harvest to make us easy in regard to our foreign indebtedness; and it is to be hoped that when such high prices are offered us for our surplus products, we shall not postpone the performance of an imperative duty to a "more convenient season." We contracted our debt when flour was four to five dollars per barrel, and now can pay them in the same produce at double the "The present stock of flour and grain in this was four to five dollars per barrel, and now can pay them in the same produce at double the price. Shall we not, then, embrare the present opportunity to "square the books." To accomplish this matter, which is equally our duty, and for our pecusiary relief and prosperity, it will be necessary to adjure all sympathy with political fighting cocks, who seem determined to divert the people from sgricultural pursuit and other labors, to make war with Spain in the annexation of Cuba, bombard some defenceless Graytown, or pick a quarrel with somebody. If England and all contiental Europe are to be engaged in war, let not even the smell of powder be among us."

Our farmers, we hope, will prepare themsolves tions, and if so, much grain will be needed there, and they will look to this country for a large supply of it.—[Buffalo Republic, Jan. 9.

From Madison. DITURIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL

Madison, Jan. 12 1855.

The chief item of interest in Senate this morng was the adoption of a joint resolution to adar on the 12th day of February, a specimen Buncombo legislation which does not show ell for the spirit with which the democracy in vised Statutes: that hady enter upon their duties. It was merean attempt to forestall the action of those who positivite the aggregate majority in the two spect a short assion. Nobody will be deceived

Another item deserves notice, although it was riefly mentioned in the abstract of proceedings 153, Revised Statutes: is hen the Assembly ment into the Benate the sint resolution to meet to Convention this moring, the democrats in the Senaté were anddealy ized with alarm, lest the wicked wags in the opular basty should have some trick in view by ato the seletion of a U. S. Schator, and they accordingly amonded the resolution by adding r no other purpose, and transact no other busithe Convention to Monday morning for the elecion of U. S. Senator would be only a Reland for

The Measage, as everybody will say, is a good ne, though some of its suggestions may not be ccertable; but it is a despurate pity that with uch fair words, the Administration exhibits such poor array of deads. Several features of the current have already provoked discussion paricularly the items concerning the State Prison and the Lauratic Asylum; in the one case the stonished people finding that there are still large meanages upon the State Prison contracts, and e the other case, that the Lunatic Commissionrg-insane in more than name -- have let a conract for a building which, with its appurtenances and incidentals, will set the State funds back by some $100,000. Such was the real folly of the seemingly innocent law of last winter, which ave the Governor the appointment of these Compissioners, (who were appointed in violation of he Constitution-two of them, being State Sen ators,) and authorized them although none but ho-e in the secret supposed that they would do a to contract for the buildings. There was little besiness of consequence tranacted in the Assumbly to-day. Mr Closs gave notice of a bill to code the jurisdiction of our Cus tom House site to the U.S., and Judge Vilas also introduced several, of a local character. The Republican members of both houses mee o-night for a conference upon the subject of U.

A STRONG POINT.

Mr. Bygon Paine, of counsel for Mr. Boorn. n his admirable speech, Friday, contended that the proof did not sastain the indicment, because it showed that Glover escaped from the custody of the State jailor, and not from the custody of Charles Cotton, as alleged. In support of this point he cited the following Sections of the Re-

Chap 10, Sec 83. "The Sheriff shall-have the charge and quatedy of the fails of his county, and of the prisoners of the same and thall keep them longer, and who have long since given reason to himself, or by his deputy or juilor, for whose acts he and his sureties shall be responsible." Glover was committed to the State jail under the following, which is a part of Section 22, Chap

"All Sheriffs, juilors, prison keepers and their and each and every of their deputies, within this State, to whom any person or persons shall be sent or committed, by virtue of legal process isseed by or major the authority of the United hich they (innocent souls.) should be entrapped | States, shall be and they are hereby enjoined and required to receive such persons into custody, and to keep them safely, until they be discharged by ords stating that the Convention should " meet | due course of the laws of the United States." In support of this position, he read the following Las" except to hear the Message. No one in decision of the Supreme Court of the United the Assembly was disposed to be captions, and States, in the case of Randolph vs. Donaldson, the amendment was concurred in, although the | 9th Cranch 76. Il was an action of debt against aggestion was made that a motion to adjourn the Marshall of the United States, for the escape of a prisoner who had been committed to the State jail. The Court gave a decision of which the following is a part: The act of Congress of 24th September 1789, ch. 20, sect. 27 and 28, authorizes the marshale of the several districts of the United States to appoint deputies, and declares them responsible for the defaults and misfeasances in office of such the defaults and misicessances in office of such deputies. But there is no provision in any uct of congress declaring the keepers of state jails, quond prisoners in custody under process of the United States, to be deputies of the marshals, or making the latter liable for escapes committed by the negligence or malfeasance of the former. If, therefore, the marshals be so liable, it is an inference from the general powers and duties amount to their office.

It is argued, that the marshals are so liable, because, in intendment of law, prisoners committed to state jails are still deemed to be in their custody; and in support of this argument is cited the prevision in the act of congress, which makes the marshal, on the removal from or the expiration of his office, responsible for the delivery to his successor of all prisoners in his custody until and [authorizes him for that purpose, to retain such prisoners in his custody his successor is appointed. And this argument is further supported by its analogy to the case of sheriffs, and by the extreme incorrecience which, it is asserted, would araise from a contrary doctrine.

The argument is not without weight; but The argument is not without weight; but, upon mature consideration, we are of opinion that it cannot prevail. The act of congress has limited the responsibility of the marshal to his own acts and the acts of his deputies. The keeper of a state jail is neither in fact nor in law the deputy of the marshal. He is not appointed by, nor removable at the will of the marshal when a prisoner is regularly committed to a state jail by the marshal, he is no longer in the custody of the marshal, not controllable by him. The matshal has no authority to command or direct the keeper in respect to the nature of the imprisonment. The keeper becomes responsible for his own acts, and may expose himself by misconduct to the "pains and penaltics" of the law. conduct to the "pains and penalties" of the law. For certain purposes, and to certain intents, the state jail lawfully used by the United States may be deemed to be the jail of the United States, and the keeper to be keeper of the United States, But this would no more make the marshal liable for his acts than for the acts of any other officer of the United States, whose appointment is altogether independent.

Among those who have pretended to form an opinion on this question, I have come to the conclusion that the object of punishment is at least four fold: the protection of society from the continued deprectations of the criminal—pun-shment for the offence committed—deterring from farther crime—and the hope of making a bitter man of the offender.

We may reasonably hope for a repetition of this good time in our own city, before the idea of March. In the main, the intent of the second list of ing their construction trains, and as Mr. Alton, the Chief Engineer; informed us on Friday, are now laying down the ratts at the rate of a half to three quarters of a mile a day. A letter which we roceived from Mr. E. P. Bisnop on Saturday, dated New York Jan. 9th says. "There is no "physical impediment to the completion of the "road in all the month of February and there "is certainly no financial impediment, as the se-"corrities of our road in this city stand better "that these of any other uncompleted road in the West, and are daily improving in credit."

Impure Gas! MESSES Entrops :-- In such hard times as these when 'tis with difficulty we can pay our just bills, does it not seem hard to nay for twice us much gas as is consumed. That from one third to one half more of something other than gas passes thro' our meters, but few consumers have my doubt. Those who have, however, can satistheir curiosity by trying a simple experiment, for which here is a receipt: Light an ordinary oil lamp, filled with the process of oil, and at the same time a gas burner. Then take a couple of in vessels or pieces of tin, and hold one in the flame of each ten seconds, and at the end of that time, notice which is most effectually coated with

Lamp Black. All are willing to acknowledge it is a great onvenience to have gas, but are of the opinion nevertheless, that when obliged to pay for twice as much as is consumed, and get at that price an article so impure that it smokes the walls of dwellings equally as badly as oil lamps, it seems to be paying dearly for the whistle. A VICTIM. Milwaukee Jan. 13. WESTERN MERCHANTS IN NEW YORK & BOSTON -A writer in the Boston Atlas of Monday last combain very successfully the pretence too ofter out forth by venturous houses in New York, Boston &c., that the stringency of the Money Market and the recent failures in the Eastern Cities are mainly attributable to the delinquencie of their Western customets. So far from this being true, says this writer, if any Eastern Merchant is crippled by deb's overdus in Michigan Illinois, Wisconsin Iowa, or Missouri, it is becaus he has made his credits injudiciously. He adds

and truly:

The general ability of the merchants of these States to meet their paper, who do their business properly, (no others deserve credit.) was seltion if ever better; and what is more to the point, it may be said with out contradiction, and it will so appear on an investigation, that good men at the West have generally paid up well, as well the past year as at any time the last five years, and when proper discrimination and sound judgement have been used in making credits the losses have never been less.

The same writer adds the following storn of and truly: The same writer adds the following atom of ocal interest to our readers: local interest to our readers:

A reliable correspondent in Milwackee, who has been ten years in trade there, and knows as well as any one the resources of Wisconsin and who never permits the sentiment of hope to satisfy him for a capital in trade in a letter dated Dec. 19, 1854, says:

"With respect to the condition of things in a financial wny, in Wisconsin, our impression is that the Eastern merchants will not lose a dollar if their goods one-half decently sold. There ought notto be any failures here."

That is so. Wisconsin business was never in beter shape than now. Mr. Bowen, of the extensive firm of Bowen & McNamee, who is one of the most sagacious business men in the United States, writes the

"The present stock of flour and grain in this market is very small, haddly two weeks supply, and it is well known that inrge orders lately rereived from England and France, cannot be executed only at advanced rates. In view of the

It will require one more plentiful harvest to make us easy in regard to our foreign indebtedness; and it is to be hoped that when such high prices are offered us for our surplus products, we shall not postpone the performance of an imperative duty to a "more convenient season." We contracted our debt when flour was four to five dollars per barred, and now can may them in the same produce at double the was four to five dollars per barrel, and now can pay them in the same produce at double the price. Shall we not, then, embrace the present opportunity to "square the books." To accomplish this matter, which is equally our duty, and for our pecunisty relief and prosperity, it will be necessary to adjute all sympathy with political fighting cocks, who seem determined to divert the people from agricultural pursuit and other labors, to make wer with Spain in the annexation of Cobs, bombard some defenceless Graytown, or pick a quarrel with somebody.
